

To obtain support for AlertDispatcher, please copy, zip and email the following AlertDispatcher files and send to your AlertDispatcher vendor:

1). AlertDispatcher Logs:

a. Current Log Folder

The contents of the AlertDispatcher log folder (not including sub-folders): C:\Program Files (x86)\AlertDispatcher\Log

Note: Current logs excludes the archive folder C:\Program Files (x86)\AlertDispatcher\Log\archive\. If you're told to only send current logs, please do not include the "archive" and "fault" sub-folders from the Log folder as they are very large.

b. Archive folder

The AlertDispatcherServer.log (and other logs where applicable) in C:\Program Files (x86)\AlertDispatcher\Log\archive folder that contains the log when the error occurred.

Note:

i. To identify which log to copy, please sort the files by date to and then open log file to verify that it contains the log when the error occurred.

ii. As larger files take a longer time to open, log files are automatically copied to the archive folder when they reach 10MB in size.

2). AlertDispatcher Configuration:

Configuration Folder: C:\Program Files (x86)\AlertDispatcher\Configuration

3). AlertDispatcher Database File:

The database file: C:\Program Files (x86)\AlertDispatcher\AlertDispatcher.db

See notes if you can't find this file.

Notes:

1). To avoid database corruption during copy, please STOP AlertDispatcher Service before copying the database file. You may restart AlertDispatcher Service after you have copied the database file.

2). If you're unable to locate AlertDispatcher.db, it maybe Windows is not showing the file extensions. Please sort AlertDispatcher folder by File name, and look for the first file "AlertDispatcher". This is the database file.

Notes when submitting files:

1. You can send to us emails with ZIP attachments of up to 25MB. If your corporate email can't accept large attachment, you can use GMAIL. If the attachment is too large, please break up the logs into separate emails or upload to a file sharing site such as box.com or Google Drive - <https://drive.google.com/drive/u/0/my-drive>

2. Please DO NOT include any EXE or DLL files in the ZIP as our email provider will block such emails. If in doubt, please feel free to check with us. Thank you very much.
